DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 18 — Letters of administration, D.B.N.C.T.A., in the estate of M. Watson Moon, of Falls twp., have been granted to Assistant District Attorney Donald W. VanArtsdalen, Doylestown, amounting to an estate of $375.

M. Watson Moon died Feb. 9, 1933. Thomas S. Hawkes was named executor of the estate Feb. 15, 1933. Hawkes, of Bristol and Phila., the executor, died March 8, 1949.

An inventory filed in the Register of Wills Office here Jan. 31, 1934, estimated the estate at $50,836.20. When the estate was originally filed for probate in the Register of Wills Office here, the personal estate was appraised at $35,000, and real estate, including two small properties in Trenton, N. J., were listed, and valued at $3,000.

In the M. Watson Moon will, dated Feb. 12, 1930, the widow, Charlotte G. Moon, was named the beneficiary, and after her death it was stipulated that three children, Jennie B., Lydia M., and Emma F. Moon, should be the heirs.

Key men from industry, from Congress and from Executive Departments of the government are being invited to speak and lead discussions. They are expected to regard this meeting of the nation's largest business organization as a natural forum for significant pronouncements on the future of the national economy.

Pointing out that the White House and the National Chamber building neighbor each other across Lafayette Park in Washington, Mr. Booth said:

"Business did not inherit a key to the White House from the

Five Major Steps in Building The Dwelling Date Back To 1701-02

By Staff Reporter

WASHINGTON CROSSING PARK, Apr. 18 — The Thompson-Neely House, where for a period of two months a loan exhibit of early American pieces is taking place, has an interesting history. The dwelling, home of successive owners of the mill nearby, gains its historical importance from the part it played in events surrounding the heroic action of George Washington at Trenton on Christmas night, 1776.

According to G. Edwin Brumbaugh, architect, "at the time the house was two-thirds its present size, a little above the average farm-house in architectural quality, and thoroughly typical of 18th century Bucks county. Prior to the present restoration, the building had passed through five major stages, or steps, in the history of its construction, in addition to considerable minor re-building. Three of the major steps had occurred before 1776; first the one-story stone cabin of John Pidecock (now the central kitchen), second, the TULLYTOWN, Apr. 18 — An early morning fire destroyed tires, a conveyor belt and an engine on a large road grading machine used on a state construction job on Bordentown road 2,000 feet east of the new bridge across VanSciver Lake.

The Tullytown Fire Co., called to the scene at 12:30 this morning, used both engines to spray high-pressure foam on the blaze for an hour. They cut loose the 50-foot belt and removed it from the machine.

Fire Chief John Steen said a road flare was found next to the front right dual wheels, which were burned, and a wooden barricade was found broken and burning. He said a car apparently broke the barricade and knocked the flare under the wheel.

The fire was reported by a passing motorist, who drove to town and turned in an alarm from Box 2, on Main street. About 15 firemen responded.

Special to Courier

DELANCO, N. J., Apr. 18 — At a meeting held here Wednesday night, the Delaware River Valley Association authorized a letter to Governor Driscoll requesting his postponement of any decision regarding approval or disapproval of the proposed 40-foot channel in the Delaware River, pending an interview with the committee appointed by the Association to point out to him the tremendous menace this channel is to the entire south Jersey area.

In this letter the Association says they are "greatly alarmed over the possible damage to our underground water supply resulting from the proposed dredging of the channel. The testimony presented to the U. S. Army Engineers at the recent hearing in Washington, D. C., by Dr. Nelson of the New Jersey Water Resources Board sets forth a grave warning on this vital subject. It also cites specific instances in other parts of New Jersey where irreparable damage to underground water supplies was occasioned by dredging but a few feet." The letter goes on to request an appointment with the Governor and was signed by Mayor George T. Becton, President of the Association.

Other officers of the Association are Charles J. Biddle, Andalusia, Pa., vice-president; Miss Grace Russell, Edgewater Park, secretary; and A. Elliott Krusen of Delanco, treasurer. In speaking of the Association, Mayor Becton said, "we are not opposed to an orderly and sensible development of the upper Delaware River; but we are anxious to bring to public attention the many hazards that the proposed dredging of a 40-foot channel will force upon an unsuspecting area."

With this object in mind, the officers and director are presently endeavoring to resolve the problem of possible damage to the underground water supply by advocating

SOULS UNDER FIRE

When American prisoners begin trickling back from Korea,
some of them may come home converted. Others may even refuse to be repatriated. The Defense Department has warned the public what to expect.

The manner in which these returning prisoners are treated may determine whether their lives will be permanently blasted by what they have gone through. They need sympathy. They need understanding. Above all, they need time.

This is equally true of those prisoners who have written letters home which sound sympathetic to communism. Maybe they felt compelled to write as they did to get red censors to pass letters which would tell their loved ones they were alive. It is true, also, of those prisoners who broadcast red germ warfare charges. These men, in most cases, were victims of "brainwashing".

The best description of the hideous atrocity of "brain-washing" appeared in the interview with John D. Hayes, Presbyterian missionary in China who was its victim, in a recent issue of the U. S. News and World Report.
It does not include outright physical torture. Its dazed victims are interrogated three to nine hours a day for 10 weeks, until the distinction between falsehood and truth breaks down and all sense of reality is lost. In Mr. Hayes' words:

"... You cannot tell which is which. . . . It should be called brain-wrangling. It is a grinding on you and your sense of moral values, so intense and severe, that I told the court a couple of times I would rather be whipped than go on with this kind of questioning."

"This has thrown new light for me upon confessions made by those outstanding churchmen in Europe. In their daze, they think they are confessing the truth. . . .
When I saw the pictures of the men giving their testimony regarding the germ warfare in Korea, I saw in their faces that they were in the exact position I had been in. . . . They think they are saying the truth."

In America, psychiatry tries to heal sick souls. In the communist world, it is used to carry on Marxist warfare against the inmost recesses of the human personality, to invade the final citiadel of human dignity and freedom. Free world psychiatrists lack experience in treating the after-effects of such "brain-washing". But one thing is certain:
To condemn its dazed victims might destroy all hopes of restoring them to normal.

Meat prices are easing, but only an incurable optimist looks for a return of five-cent hamburgers.

Remarks when an unwary head of the house steps on a space ship in the dark, sans shoes, sound quite eerie.

Today's Quiet Moment

Selected by
The Rev. E. Clarendon Hyde
Vicar, Grace Episcopal Church,
Hulmeville

You wives, be submissive to your husbands, so that some, tho they do not obey the word, may be won without a word by the behavior of their wives, when they see your reverent and chaste behavior. Let not yours be the outward adorning with braiding of hair, decorations of gold, and wearing of robes, but let it be the hidden person of the heart with the imperishable jewel of a gentle and quiet spirit, which in God's sight is very precious. So once the holy women who hoped in God, used to adorn themselves and were submissive to their husbands, as Sarah obeyed Abraham, calling him lord. And you are now her children if you do right and let nothing terrify you.

Likewise you husbands, live considerably with your wives, bestowing honor on the woman, as the weaker sex, since you are joint heirs of the grace of life, in order that your prayers may not be hindered.

Finally, all of you, have unity of spirit, sympathy, love of the brethren, a tender heart and a humble mind. Do not return evil for evil, or reviling for reviling; but on the contrary bless, for to this you have been called, that you may obtain a blessing. For

"He that would love life and see good days, let him keep his tongue from evil and his lips from speaking guile;

let him turn away from evil and do right;

let him seek peace and pursue it.

For the eyes of the Lord are upon the righteous, and his ears are open to their prayer.

But the face of the Lord is against those that do evil."

I. Peter III, 1-12

Almighty God, who hast given thine only Son to be unto us both a sacrifice for sin, and also an example of Godly life: Give us grace that we may always most thankfully receive that his inestimable benefit, and also daily endeavor ourselves to follow the blessed steps of his most holy life: thru the same thy Son Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

report. A social hour followed. Refreshments were served to 20.

NEWS OF THE LEVITTOWN COMMUNITY

Kennel Club Charter Remains Open Until May 11

LEVITTOWN, Apr. 18—The Levittown Kennel Club will close its charter Monday, May 11. It was announced Monday night at the second meeting of the Levittown Kennel Club. Persons who join before that date will be charter members. New associate members are also invited to join the Club.

Plans were made to hold two obedience classes for dogs, the first to start May 21 or 28 and the second to be held in September. The courses will last ten weeks, with trophies and ribbons to be awarded to the best-performing dogs, at graduation ceremonies.

Approximately 17 are enrolled in the May class, and it was announced that there are more openings. Applications may be made through George P. Knapp, president, or Mrs. Knapp, telephone Bristol 5693. April 30 is the deadline for applying.

The Kennel Club will hold a Spring Dance, June 5, at Pennsbury Inn, it was announced by Mrs. Duke Sloan, of 313 Lakeside drive, chairman of the activities committee. Tickets may be purchased from her.

Another activity planned by the Club is the sale of metal identification tags, with the dog's name, and the address and telephone number of the owner. The sale of the dog tags is planned to help retrieve lost pets in the community, and to augment the Club treasury.

The Club is also selling subscriptions to Popular Dogs magazine. The tags and magazine are being sold by Mrs. Sloan.

Attendance at the meeting was 100 persons, many of them enrolling as new members. The officers will hold a conference Monday to plan the May meeting.

A series of Articles Introducing the New Residents of Levittown to The Community.
(By Staff Reporter)

Communing to Abraham Lincoln High School, Phila., where he teaches ceramics, is just a short jaunt to Hugo J. Fiora now that he lives in Levittown. He formerly went to work from Wilmington, Del.

Mr. Fiora and his wife, Verna, moved from Wilmington, Mar. 28, to 88 Bald Cypress lane. They're both Ohioans, and attended Ohio State University together. Mrs. Fiora was born in Columbus and her husband in Dennison.

Their recent stay in Wilmington lasted just a few months. Before that the Fioras spent two years in Fallston, Md. Mrs. Fiora, a chemist, then worked at Aberdeen Proving Grounds.

This couple has many ambitious plans for their new home. Mr. Fiora, an amateur photographer, intends to build a darkroom in the closet off the dining area. He also plans, someday, to construct an extra room on the house, for a ceramics studio.

The Fioras are tropical fish fanciers, with many species in their two aquariums. The couple is looking for other local ichthyologists to share their interest in fish.

Mrs. Fiora, a violinist, played the viola in an amateur chamber music group in Maryland, and would like to join a similar group here.

Morrisville Wins But Held to Two Hits By Bensalem Nine

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Apr. 18.—Although held to two hits, Morrisville High mustered a 5-3 verdict over Bensalem Township High yesterday in a Lower Bucks County League tilt on Hansen's field.

The two Morrisville blows were made by Crouse and Frank Gorman. But they were bunched with walks and errors to produce the Morrisville 5 markers.

Morrisville's Jack Hable held Bensalem to 5 hits and struck out 15 batters he walked but one. Hable ran into trouble in the sixth when Bensalem scored two runs and still had the sacks loaded when Al Dominiani struck out. In the final frame, Hable struck out the side.

Council Rock Defeats Delhaas High, 9 to 8

NEWTOWN, Apr. 18.—In a wild ball game yesterday on the winner's diamond, Council Rock opened its 1953 Lower Bucks County League season with a 9-8 triumph over Delhaas High. In losing, the latter team "blew" an 8-2 lead.

The winning tally was the result of wildness on the part of the Delhaas hurlers in the last half of the seventh. The score was tied at 8-8 when Morris drew a walk. Earl Johnson beat out a hit and John Derry was passed to load the sacks. George Manley relieved Johnny Barner for Delhaas and passed Dick Mengel forcing in Morris with the winning run.

Cecil Morris was the winning pitcher with the defeat going to Barner. Both teams had five hits with Howard Koenig delivering a telling blow in the sixth when he cleaned the bags with a long double to center.

Gibbs' Single at End Of Seventh Wins For Bristol; Score 5-4

"Les" Gibbs' single in the last half of the seventh gave Bristol High its second straight win of the Lower Bucks County League yesterday as the Warriors nosed out Neshaminy High, 5-4, on Memorial Park field.

The score was deadlocked at 4-4 as Coach Ben Watson's team took their last turn with the bat. Harold Loud worked Tony Peale for a pass and went on second on a wild pitch. Gibbs then placed his safe blow into right field and Loud raced home with the winning mark.

It was the second mound win for Dick Orner who relieved Jan Gouza in the last half of the sixth. Neshaminy scored three runs in this canto on a walk to Al Kaufman, a hit to right by Latham, a blistering triple by Curtis and a hit by Morone. After this blow, Orner came in but Morone was caught trying for second.

In the final frame, Orner struck out Peale but ran into trouble when he walked Lindefelso. The latter got to second on a stolen base but Bowen struck out and Kaufman was the third out on a grounder to Loud.

Both teams had seven safe blows. Curtis had a pair of singles and his three-bagger for the Redskins while Gibbs and George Conn had two hits each for Bristol.

During his tenure on the hill, Gouza struck out seven and passed two. Peale fanned 8 and walked 3.

Association Opposes

that an independent study be made by experienced engineers of this important aspect of the proposed project. The Association believes that thus far the report of the Army Engineers does not include sufficient engineering facts to guarantee absolute protection of the under ground water supply from pollution as a result of dredging and blasting of the river bed. Thus a thorough study of this problem by qualified engineers well acquainted with the Delaware river is sorely needed. This study will require a year to complete in order that tests may be made during all seasons of the year and will cost a sizable amount of money which we hope soon will be made available by private sources.

"Two other problems to be faced as a result of dredging a deeper channel," he continued, "are bank erosion and flood control. The Association members are deeply concerned with these two unknown factors and the proposed independent engineering study will provide valuable data on these questionable points. At present, the report of the Army Engineers is based on the Federal Government being made free from all claims of damage caused by bank erosion, bank slippage or flood conditions. An independent survey such as we advocate will show the extent of damage that may result from the deeper channel and provide a basis for making sound decisions on these questions.

As tax payers, the members of the Association are completely opposed to the 40' channel on the grounds that the proposed expenditure of approximately $100,000,000.00 for the sole benefit of U. S. Steel is entirely unnecessary. There is no industry between Philadelphia and Trenton which requires more than the present 25 foot channel so that a 40 foot channel is clearly a subsidy for one individual industry. The cost to the tax payer is too great to benefit a single industry and certainly is open to investigation."

The Association is now awaiting a reply from Governor Driscoll. Letter to Driscoll follows:

The Honorable Alfred E. Driscoll
Governor of New Jersey
State House
Trenton, New Jersey

My dear Governor Driscoll:

The members of this Association, as well as the citizens of the Borough of Riverton, are greatly alarmed over the possible damage to our underground water supply resulting from the proposed dredging of the Delaware river channel to a depth of 40 feet. The testimony presented to the U. S. Army Engineers at their hearing in Washington, D. C. by Dr. Nelson of the New Jersey Water Resources Board sets forth a grave warning on the vital subject. It also cites specific instances in other parts of New Jersey where irrepairable damage to underground water supplies was occasioned by dredging but a few feet for additional depth.

In order that the views of the members of our Association on this important Federal project may be properly put before you, I respectfully submit a request for a personal interview to discuss this matter with you. If this plan meets with your approval arrangements for a meeting in the very near future and to suit your convenience will be greatly appreciated. Your kind consideration is gratefully acknowledged.

Sincerely,
DELAWARE RIVER VALLEY ASSOCIATION

two-story western extension, and finally the addition of a second story to the original cabin. Washington's officers, therefore, saw a long, narrow, two section stone house, one room deep and two stories high, with the characteristic Bucks County continuous roof line. . . . It is fortunate that this simple miller's house was destined to shelter some of the men who lifted the American cause out of hopeless despair in the biting cold and sleet of that December night. They have consecrated the house to lovers of liberty, and at the same time have justified the preservation, in faithful details, of one of Bucks County's finest early houses."

Treasures from many Bucks County homes are to be seen in this shrine from April 15th to June 15th—being loaned by Bucks County residents and others. The exhibit is under sponsorship of Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs.

The room which made up the original cottage, ascribed to 1701-02, is believed to be where the councils of war were held by Washington, and where wounded were treated before being made comfortable with nursing care in another portion of the house. A refractory table (about 1640), probably brought from Europe, occupies the center of the room. A Bucks County walnut wainscot chair of the late 17th century is beside the table. A slat-back rocker with painted design (one of the few early chairs made as a rocking chair); and a cradle, one of the earliest and finest American cradles in existence (probably of oak) occupy this room also. The cradle is believed to be part of the original Thompson-Neely house furnishings. Along one windowless wall is a painted pine settle and wood box of the mid 18th century, this being an old Bucks county piece. Another item that attracts attention is an adjustable floor stand for a rush light and candle. The pieces of equipment for the huge fireplace are subject of conversation on the part of visitors.

To list every piece would take reams of paper, but a visit to the other rooms of the house reveals some outstanding items. In the back parlor on a Chippendale Penna. table (circa 1770) (loaned by Mrs. Clarence Johnson, Doylestown) is a handsome Sheffield silver tea set, property of Miss Laura Haines, Doylestown. In the front parlor a spinning wheel, property of Mrs. Franklin Pennel, Langhorne, has a spot in a corner. On the wall is a large framed sampler recording many births in the 18th century. The sampler is loaned by Mrs. Marian Beane, Newtown. A pine tavern table (1700-1730) is to be seen; also some fine old glassware, pewter, and an ancient quilt, the latter made by some members of the Thompson family who once occupied the house.

In one of the rooms on the western side are ancient papers, linens, clothing, etc. A calash (called by some a Conestoga bonnet); famous letters and fine old books are on display. One small chair belonged to Frances Symington Landreth (born September, 1794) the great grandmother of Miss Frances Landreth, of Bristol. The basement kitchen, built sometime after the original kitchen, has been almost completely furnished by items loaned by Mrs. Ruth Lessey, Doylestown R. D. Linen sheets and the flax wheel on which they were made; a rare pine candle mould; waffle iron; wrought-iron scales; salt bin; bread peel with its long handle (for removing loaves from oven); fireplace equipment; old Penna. candle box; early tavern table of pine with stretcher base; doll with hoop for skirt; a calash; old cooking utensils, pie board, Penna. slip-wear, medicine bottles and butter churn are among the prized pieces.

Special attention will be devoted to recovering the taxpayers' in-

Mrs. George B. West Dies

Guy West, a few doors away during the evening. When she returned to the Jenks residence, Francis McGlynn, who lives in the other half of the twin house, heard her at the door, and upon discovering that Mrs. West was having a little difficulty in inserting the key offered to aid her. After unlocking the door and seeing Mrs. West safely inside, he inquired if she was alright, and received an affirmative reply. McGlynn upon re-entering his own house heard a thud. The McGlynn's were unable to see through the windows. Venetian blinds being closed, and it was when Mr. McGlynn climbed onto the porch railing and looked through high window-lights in the door that he saw Mrs. West on the floor of the living room.

Mrs. Jenks' brother, Edward Hendrickson, who lives nearby, provided a key and the neighbors attempted to aid Mrs. West. Death, resulting from coronary occlusion, occurred within a few minutes.

A daughter, Mrs. Howard Stepler, Chambersburg, survives, as do the following sons: Guy, of Bristol; Walter, of Elizabethtown; and Glenn, of Key West, Fla. Several grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. West, widow of George B. West, had resided in Bristol about 37 years. She was a member of Zion Lutheran Church, and of Morning Star Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Services will be held at two p. m. Tuesday at the Molden funeral home, 133 Otter street, with burial in Bristol Cemetery. Friends may call Monday evening.

November election, and that is as it should be. No economic segment—business, labor or agriculture—should enjoy preferential treatment in a free enterprise economy, but the windows of the White House are no longer shuttered from the business point of view, and Lafayette Park is no longer a moat.

"The Administration program, to date, reflects the expressed will of the taxpayers for a thrifty, decontrolled, incentive economy and a prudent foreign policy. The Annual Meeting program will anticipate further advances toward an economy in which government encourages instead of discourages production and re-evaluates toward its intended role of umpire in economic affairs."

In genesis form as of now, the program will highlight the outlook in the fields of taxation, social legislation, foreign policy, government economy and labor relations and take soundings of private action toward "better living for more people," which is one major thesis for discussion.

"Housing a growing America," is promised full-dress treatment; so is the future of the job market for the 700,000 young people who annually emerge from the classrooms.

The program will probably unfold further details of the National Chamber's blueprint for a long-range plan to mobilize and stimulate the production energies of a nation whose population is steadily increasing.

Special attention will be devoted to recovering the taxpayers' investment in tax-dollar built and tax-dollar supported hydro-power developments.

"Business will make news in Washington on a scale never matched before," said Booth. "We expect it to be good news for young people in the job market; good news for those who are forced to live on the dole of old age assistance through a hodge-podge social security administration; good news for investors and savers; good news for home buyers and above all, 'pay dirt news' for the taxpayers, which means everyone."

Laurence F. Lee, president of the National Chamber, will deliver the traditional keynote address at the first general session April 27.

survey of threatened flood conditions in the Black Ditch-Mill Creek-Silver Lake area of Bristol township.

Concern has been expressed by borough officials that the increased flow of water from Silver Lake into Otter Creek will result in flooding the lowlands along the creek in the borough and bring about a need for new bridges over Otter Creek.

J. J. Hetherington, burgess of Bristol, as well as local civic and recreational leaders, have expressed fears that the storm sewer waters of Levittown, which empty into waters flowing into Silver Lake might be polluting the lake waters, making it unfit for area residents to swim there.

Hetherington has been active in the fight to have other means of disposal of the surface drainage rather than permitting it to enter the lake, which is used for bathing purposes in the summer.

Reason given by most authorities for the increased flow of water is that the former open fields and farmland in the Mill Creek-Queen Anne Creek water-shed is being built up with hard-surfaced roads and homes. This prevents the water being soaked up by the ground.

The township is already faced with the fact that the bridges over Mill Creek at Green Lane and Magnolia avenue are too small to accommodate the increased flow of water which rushes down Mill Creek from the black ditch and "Monroe River" areas to the east.

The township engineer, William Spencer Erwin, last week emphasized the immediacy of the problem when he said: "Every house that goes up adds to the problem."

George Sottung this morning said the meeting was arranged to be held here because Senator Watson and Mr. Kinney would have an opportunity to see the condition "first hand."

The township engineer will be present to show them the maps of the area, so that they will be thoroughly familiar with the flood-threat problem.

Erwin has said that the area drained by Mill Creek is only part of the problem. That areas along the Queen Anne Creek, including Middletown township, Pennell, Langhorne Manor, and Langhorne boroughs lie in the affected water-shed.

J. Russell Newbold, chairman of the Middletown township supervisors, said this morning that the township has not yet made a survey of the bridges in that township.

"We haven't taken any action yet," said Newbold, "and I don't know whether we will." Newbold said he was not yet entirely sure that Middletown township would be built up too much in that area. Subdivision plans of the Levitt corporation have not yet been approved he said.

regularly assigned in the heavy weapons (fourth) platoon as a section leader. However prior to the departure hour for this particular mission he was attached to the 3rd platoon as a reinforcement in the capacity of ammunition bearer for a machine gun. When the 3rd platoon was in position to launch its attack, volunteers were called for to form a stealth attack on one of the trenches, in the hope of finding a lone sentry on duty, and by overpowering him, complete the mission with least exposure and less danger of being discovered. The balance of the platoon would be nearby to cover them in their withdrawal, in the event they were discovered. Three men volunteered, Russell being one of them, and they made a silent ascent to the enemy trench. However the enemy discovered them and Russell's two team mates were wounded. Russell returned to the platoon and volunteered to be point man in an assault by the platoon on the hill, and acquired a "satchel charge" (a high explosive charge used to destroy enemy bunkers) with which he returned to the enemy position and threw the charge into an enemy bunker where some of the enemy were holding the 3rd platoon at bay. A fourth man joined Russell in this attack and provided cover fire while Russell knocked out the bunker. Then Russell and his companion went to the aid of the two wounded men. One was too seriously wounded to be carried by just one man so Russell told his companion to carry the more lightly wounded man back to safety and in the meantime he would stay with the more seriously wounded man until help could come. However by the time the others reached the shell hole where Russell and the wounded man were taking shelter, no trace of either Russell or the wounded man could be found.

By such actions as this the dauntless courage and high character and devotion of our wonderful young American men, serving here for God and country, continue to maintain faith and high morale in our way of life.

It is my earnest prayer that God will grant to you and the loved ones at home His Sustaining Grace during these days of anxiety and hope.

Sincerely yours in Christ,
